ERM IN HIGHER EDUCATION

Join us for this invitation-only ERM in Higher Education workshop on Thursday and Friday, November 16-17, 2017 in Raleigh, NC. ERM leaders will gather in the Tally Student Union at NC State University for a CPE-eligible workshop featuring real-world illustrations of university ERM implementations including insights from keynote speaker Rick Moyer, Senior Associate Vice President and Chief Risk Officer at Stanford University, along with discussion sessions for sharing about ERM challenges and successful best practices.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Individuals leading university or college ERM efforts and the executives to whom they report. More than one individual may attend from the same institution.

Intensive. Invaluable. Interactive.

This high-level workshop provides the tools and hands-on training to confidently and competently explore your questions regarding effective enterprise-wide risk management and oversight. You'll interact with peers to gather insights and ideas during a real-world, comprehensive workshop.

Limited to just 50 participants, this intimate and interactive environment promotes greater interaction between attendees and speakers, and allows a greater sharing of experiences with colleagues. Don't miss this unique learning opportunity.
